A pungent and fruity melange of medicinal herbs, honeyed anise, dried bitter lemon, candied ginger, spicy egg nog, pink peppercorn and polished teak aromas are complex and intriguing.

A bold entry leads to a slightly sweet and very bitter full body with wave of hot spice, grassy herb, fennel, and citrus tea flavors. Finishes with a long, steely mineral and white pepper accented fade. Powerful and intriguingly different.

Tasted louché as an absinthe cocktail: Clear/Pearl color. Soft, nicely meshed reedy herb and fennel flavors. Warming peppery fade. Pleasant and surprisingly mild.
